The "Rough Riders" are evidently riding Colonel Roosevelt Into the office of governor of New York and may ride him into the presidential chair yet. He is a young man. Who knows?

The revenue system of the territory needs a good overhauling. The interests of the territory and of the tax payers, the honest tax payers, are not sufficiently protected. The county commissioners and collector have too much lee way.

It goes without successful contradic tion and people are acknowledging the fact, the New Mexican is the paper in the territory for the latest, best and most reliable political, official, educational, mining, stock, agricultural and general territorial news.

If Spain must court martial somebody as it has threatened to do with its naval and military commanders, who surrendered when they couldn't do anything else, why not court martial Weyler, who is in a large measure responsible for the present war.

The London Daily News spitefully remarks: "The conquest of Cuba is not turning out such a promenade as many people in America expected." It may look that way to the News, but in this country, people are right well satisfied with what has been done so far.

At last Senor Sagasta is getting to show a gleam of common sense. He admits that against the American navy his country can do nothing. If the senor could live another 100 years he learning very slowly.

Massachusetts is away up. Even the "Wanted, to secure three rooms in a farm house where two cows can also be pastured."

The Territorial Horticultural fair, to be held in this city, can and will be made a success if the citizens of Santa Fe give the matter the attention and aid, it deserves. The trouble with such matters in this city is that the property owners and merchants who are best able to contribute to such matters, are the least public spirited.

The Republicans of Chaves county have put a good ticket in the field for the coming county election. They have lance come, if they desire it in the end. months and propose to make it someother counties of the territory. The ticket in Chaves county consists of clean, strong and able men, and with such a ticket a strong fight can be made.

A correspondent, who dates his letter at El Paso, Tex., has a letter in the St. Louis Republic of the 16th instant, wherein New Mexico is called a Spanish province, and other fictions concerning the territory are told. As this territory has about 1,000 volunteers to its credit in this war so far and as a regular army recruiting office has been opened at Alrespondent is of the stamp of General Blanco, Weyler and the rest of that ilk. It cuts no ice where these volunteers came from originally. They were residents of New Mexico and were furnished by the territory and they volunteered cheerfully and some of them have been proven to be among the best and most courageous troops in all the armies of the United States now engaged in hostilities. Facts are facts and these facts are good enough.

Spanish Pride is Not Sufficiently Humbled.

It had been hoped that the destruction of two Spanish fleets and the surrender of the province of Santiago de Cuba would bring peace between the United States and Spain. That hope had been strengthened by the reports coming from Spain indicating that a peace sentiment was fast gaining headway against national pride and insanity, but developments the past three days show that more disasters must overtake the Spaniards before they will be brought to sue for terms. The sus- the whole United States. pension of the constitution in the peninsula seems to have had much to do with the revival of the war spirit, although it is difficult to understand why it should, unless the people are desirous of proving their loyalty to the government of

The Daily New Mexican stry, which the rigorous measures adopted to prevent a revolution, seriously questioned.

> The war is costing this country nearly $2,000,000 a day and has cost many lives by bullet and sickness; Spain is spending equally as much treasure, has lost vastly more lives than the United States and has met defeat on every side. War is the scourge of mankind, some one fore. This government cannot stop strife until it has conquered and brought a new life to millions of people who have lived the lives of slaves for four centuries. Spain will not call a halt and sue for peace on the best terms obtainable. There is only one way to end the matter, and that is for the stronger power to crowd it to the "bitter end" as the Spanish say.

The sooner Commodore Watson's fleet eaches the coast of Spain and turns the guns of the ships lose on the seaport cities; the sooner the Puerto Rican expedition sails and captures San Juan and occupies the island, the sooner will the war spirit of the Spaniards be quelled. It hardly seems right to strike a vanquished foe, but sometimes it is necessary in order to compel the adversary to recognize that he is whipped. The present appears to be one of these times, and the harder the remaining blows are struck the fewer will be necessary. The United States is not desirous of continuing the fight one day longer than is absolutely necessary, and it is to be hoped there will be no more delays in the sailing of transports and warships for the points where they will do the most good in the shortest time.

The Government of Cuba That there is some apprehension that the United States may have trouble with the Cubans over the control and government of the island after the Spanlards have been driven out is evident, and it would seem to be justified by the actions of the insurgents in and around Santiago. During the assault upon that place the Cubans refused to do any work in preparing roads for artillery and supply transportation, would not assist in earing for the sick and wounded, and did mighty little of the fighting. On the other hand they were more than ready and willing to eat the rations and wear the clothing furnished by the United States. When Santiago surrendered they had a man picked out for military governor, but when he was not appointed they manifested their discontent in no uncertain manner.

This government began the war to free Cuba from oppression and to provide for the inhabitants a government under which they could live and prosper, and under which life and property would be safe. In simply expelling the Spanish from the island those objects will not have been obtained. Up to the track on the Alamogordo & Sacramento may know something, although he is present time the Cubans have shown no marked capabilities for caring for themselves as a nation.

There is nothing in their history to cows are handsomely treated in the Old guarantee that, if given free reign, the Bay state, to judge from the following form of government they would establish might not be as cruel and oppressive as that of the Spaniards when in control of the island. The United States does not propose to drive out one form of oppression to make room for another.

Until the affairs of the island have been straightened out and the Cubans given a fair trial at self-control, the United States must maintain a direct supervision of all matters pertaining to the island. The objects of the war will not have been accomplished until a stable and just government has been established, and the sooner the Cubans make up their minds to accept that fact the sooner will their absolute independgained many votes during the past 18 It is a little bit early in the proceedings for the insurgents who have been what interesting to their opponents in granted the assistance of a friendly that Democratic stronghold. Hon. E. S. Stover on Governor Otero. (Albuquerque Citizen.)

With the departure last evening of Captain Fall's company for Whipple the last of New Mexico's quota under the second call of the president for volunteers has been completed; and we are to be congratulated that the work of organization has been so prompt, effi-cient, so patriotically and thoroughly

To Governor Otero is due the honor and credit of this most excellent work, recruiting office has been opened at Al-buquerque, where many enlistments are has given it his most earnest, undivided being made, it is clear that the cor- attention, and personally superintended the organization of every company, and gave each his hearty godspeed on its de rarture.

The work has not been performed in a merely perfunctory manner, but he has thrown into it an enthusiasm that has imbued whole communities and every member of the organizations.

He had an opportunity to reward many of his personal friends and to make political capital in the appointment of officers, but with the credit of the service, honor of the territory and interest of the men solely in he has performed his duties, we believe. in such a manner as to be equaled by but few executives in the whole Union and certainly excelled by none.

War is a great science. In no other war has science and skill over mere unskilled force shown more conspicuously; therefore, in selecting trained scientific officers to command his troops, Governor Otero has not only held the best inter ests of his men in view, but the glory and honor of the whole commonwealth. .The imperishable honor and renown already won by our gallant troops on the stormy fields of battle prove conclu-sively the wisdom and patriotism of Governor Otero in the organization of his troops, and should opportunity occur the latter organizations will but add additional honor to him, the territory, and

Kear-exception to those which have gone be-ney, has removed any doubt that may man died, and Gonzales was re-arrested have lingered in our minds of the inno cence or guilt of Lee and Gilliland of the charge of murder of Colonel Fountain and son on February 1, 1896. In nocent men do not answer the command of an officer to surrender by shooting him down like a dog, neither do the build forts and prepare arsenals on top of houses to sleep in at night. We are going to advocate obedience to the law and we are going to stand by the officers of the law in the discharge of their duty, though the heavens may fall. In years past a small lawless ele ment has committed crimes and these crimes in a general way have been charged to the Sacramento mountain country at large, which is very unjust, as a more peaceable, law-abiding peo-ple can not be found anywhere. Civilization has come and with it comes : strict obedience of the law. Aside from a very few we are already law abiding and these very few law break ers must not attempt the peace of our people, else they will be compelled to unt new pastures.

One View of the Political Situation in Dona Ana County. (Rio Grande Republican.

The political pot is beginning to simmer in Dona Ana county. Several candidates are actively at work canvassing among the people, but so far they not placed an announcement of their candidacy in the newspapers.

The office of sheriff seems to be the one most discussed. Both sides are going to do their best to elect their sheriff. There are at least half a dozen men men tioned for the position on each side

Next comes the legislature, and the probable nominees. J. A. Anchetta, of Frant county, has many friends who want to see him get the nomination for the council from the counties of Grant and Dona Ana. Jose Gonzales is mentioned as the right man to represent the two counties in the house. For representative, all seem to favor the nomination of D. M. Sutherland, of La Luz. The whole eastern end of the county is avorable to him, even Tularosa, where the people expect to make a fight for the county seat. They all know that he will fulfill his promises.

G. A. Richardson, of Roswell, wil probably get the nomination on both lekets

Political times will be loosely drawn I the coming campaign, and it is probable than more than one man will run on a ticket that he would not vote if he were not a candidate on it.

DENNIS' DEMON

Whereby the Irish Camp Cock Sustains a Fearful Shock.

Many years since during the height of the war in Florida, a company of the Second infantry made their camp for the night, after a rainy day's march, by the bank of a muddy stream that sluggishly meandered through a dense and unwholesome everglade. Dennis Mulligan, the redhaired Irish servant of the commanding officer, having seen his master's tent comfortably pitched, lit a small fire beneath a huge palmetto, and, having cut several slices of fat pork from the daily ration, proceeded to fry that edible for the night's repast.

In the deep gloom of the evening silence reigned unbroken but for the crackling of the small fire and the grizzling of the pork as it crisped and curled in the mighty mess pan, when suddenly, with a tremendous "whoosh," the leaves of the palmetto were disturbed, and a huge owl, five feet from tip to tip, settled in the foliage. Startled by the disturbance, Dennis for an instant suspended his culinary operation, and, frying pan in hand, gazed slowly and fearfully about him. Persuading himself that the noise was but the effect of imagination, he again addressed himself to his task, when the owl set up his fearful hoot, which sounded to the horrified ears of Dennis like "Who-cooks-for you-all?"

Again he suspended operation, again gazed fearfully forth into the night, again persuaded himself that his imagination was in fault, when, accidentally glancing upward, he beheld the awful countenance and glaring eyes of the owl turned downward upon him, and from that cavernous throat, in hollow tones, again issued the question:

"Who-cooks-for you-all?" "Heaven bless your honor!" said poor Dennis, while the mess pan shook in his quivering grasp and the unheeded pork oured forth a molten stream, which, falling upon the flames, caused a burst of illumination that added to the terrors of the scene. "Heaven bless your honor! I cooks for Captain Eaton, but I don't know, sir, who cooks for the rest of the gintlemen

A burst of fiendish laughter followed from those who had witnessed the incident, and "Dennis' Demon" became a favorite varn in the Second infantry from that time forth.-Nuggets.
